Descriptive hawaii essay

Two years ago, right after I was done giving with giving my O'herd name, I took a trip to Bangkok, Thailand with my family. It was one of the most amazing and memorable experiences of my life. Those two weeks full of fun spent with my family brought us so close, something that we all will never forget.

Thailand was amazing in so many ways but one thing that took me by surprise was the people there. I had no clue whatsoever about how the people were going to be but when I finally met them, I fell in love with them instantly. They were all so welcoming and hospitable. Every person that I met was so friendly and would get so excited after finding out we were tourists. At one point I even got lost in some unknown area due to my poor map making skills. Thankfully I ran into a lady who was nice enough to guide me to my desired location.

Another reason why I enjoyed so much was because of the different varieties of scrumptious food. The breakfast buffet served at our hotel was to die for. There were 15 different types of eggs and also a huge selection of breads to choose from. Delicious pancakes and waffles and also rows and rows of mouthwatering donuts and muffins. Delicious Thai fruits were being sold at stalls on every street corner. I couldn't get enough of them. I even bought some of them to bring back home with me. For dinner we tried a different gourmet restaurant every night and the food was great every single one of them. My personal favorite was the seafood restaurant near my hotel.

Finally the best part about the whole trip was all the shopping that I did. Thailand is known for its good shopping. People from all over the world go there to shop. There was a place called the night market which was not very far from my hotel. When my parents took me there I literally shopped like a crazy person. Everything was so cheap that I grabbed almost everything in sight. There was a variety of
